

Basic Instincts of Life Which Create Self

There are two basic drives within every person: human and divine. Humanly, we seek to settle down, be safe, build fences, be secure. Divinely we are created to express, to grow, and to extend our horizons.

Memorize these. Judge do NOT Condemn

SOCIAL INSTINCT		SECURITY INSTINCT		SEX INSTINCT
COMPANIONSHIP	Wanting to belong or to be accepted by other individuals	MATERIAL	Wanting money, buildings, property, clothing, etc, so we will feel secure	ACCEPTABLE (IDEAL)	- Our sex lives when - acceptable to our partners and to ourselves, and - informed by principles which are - accepted by all, and - guided by our Higher Powers (e.g., unselfish) - Our sex lives when contrary to the ideal
PRESTIGE	Wanting to be recognized or accepted as a leader	EMOTIONAL	Based upon our needs for another person or persons. Some tend to dominate. Some are overly dependent upon others.	SECRET (HIDDEN)
SELF-ESTEEM	Our image of ourselves; what we think of ourselves
PRIDE	Excessive and unjustified opinion of ourselves, either positive (self-love) or negative (self-hate)
PERSONAL RELATIONSHIPS	Our relationships with other human beings
AMBITION	Our plans to gain acceptance, power, recognition, prestige, etc.	AMBITION	Our plans to gain material wealth, or to dominate, or to depend upon others	AMBITION	Our plans regarding our sex lives which are either acceptable or secret